Amiga for VIDEO

What do thousands of video hobbyists across the country have in common with network television graphics professionals? They both use the Amiga to create outstanding video effects.

The Amiga offers users, both professional and hobbyist, the means to create an incredible range of video effects at a system cost far below other video production equipment.

Here are just a few of the things that can be done:

Create and superimpose titles, captions, and subtitles; Scroll, fade, flip, or wipe titles; Digitize and store photos or video images; Edit or enhance stored images; Create animated sequences Combine animation with "live" video; Special effects, including wipes, fades, checkerboards, split screens, spinning frames, and more.

One of the tools that can be used with the Amiga to produce these effects is the "genlock". A genlock is a device that allows you to combine computer generated graphics with live or pre-recorded video. A genlock, for instance, would be needed to superimpose titles on a video of your vacation. (Without a genlock, the titles could be added, but would have to be inserted as individual video segments; the titles and the vacation video could not be on the screen at the same time.)

Appropriate software is also necessary. No other computer has as much video software available, including title generators, paint programs, digitizing and editing programs, animation software, etc. To round out your system, you can also add specialized hardware for scanning and digitizing artwork or images, creating unusual effects, etc. Depending on your objectives, you'll also need at least one VCR, and perhaps a video camera or camcorder.

TENEX Computer Express is your one-stop shopping source for all your Amiga and desktop video needs!

Enter The Exciting World Of Telecomputing!

One of the most popular uses of home computers is to "talk" to other computers and computer users. The diversity of on-line services is staggering – from the latest news to airline schedules, from stock prices to interactive adventure games, from electronic mail to patent searches – all you need is your computer, a modem, terminal software, and a phone line. In addition to the national on-line databases, like the Source, CompuServe, Dow Jones, and others, there are hundreds or even thousands of local "bulletin boards" run by user groups or individual enthusiasts. Telecomputing is so much fun and offers such a variety of activities that for many users it is the principal use of their home computer.

Say NO To The Mail Order Tax!

As a mail order consumer, you should be aware that Congress is considering legislation that would require you to pay sales tax on your out of state mail order purchases. This would affect you in two ways. The first and most direct effect on your pocketbook is that your purchases from out of state mail order firms would cost more. One of the reasons consumers shop via mail order is to save money — for many consumers, this proposed law would raise their out of pocket cost by as much as 8% depending on their state sales tax.

The second, and less obvious effect, is that mail order firms' costs would increase due to much greater paperwork requirements; for example, we would have to file 46 sales tax returns instead of our current one. And we are one of the fortunate ones – we're fully computerized. Some firms with less advanced order processing systems might be forced out of business.

The legislators who support this bill are presenting it as a tax on out of state firms who are not paying their share of state taxes. While the bill is certainly a burden on out of state firms, It is really a tax on you the consumer who chooses to shop by mail.

If you do not want to pay sales tax on items you order from out of state firms, please write your Congressman and Senators today. Unless they know that the voters in their districts care, they will pass this subtle but costly tax.

Cartridge Port Extender Cable

CARTRIDGE PORT EXTENDER. Are you cramped for space behind your computer? Is it hard to reach your cartridge port to plug-in or swap cartridges? This handy cable is your solution.

The cartridge port on the C64 and C128 is unfortunately located in a somewhat awkward position - horizontally in the back, where it is hard to reach and impossible to see. Many users have installed cartridge expanders, which not only let you switch cartridges easily but also place them vertically for easier access. The cartridge expander, though, takes up a few more inches of table space - no problem for most users, but a drawback for those working in tight quarters. The cable connects to the cartridge port in back of the computer and lets you plug in your cartridge to its other end. Since the cable is flexible, you can locate the cartridge up to 11" away for easier access and more efficient use of table space. Not for use with memory expansion modules.
